PUSHBACK

AGAINST DRUG ABUSE

Signs of Drug Activity

- Frequent visitors who stay for short periods of time.
- Residents may get into the car of visitors or just talk at the driver's window.
- Money or small packages being exchanged.
- Extensive surveillance equipment such as exterior home cameras.
- Never opening blinds or window coverings.
- Finding drug paraphernalia such as very small Ziploc baggies, torn baggie corners, hypodermic needles, small pieces of brillo pads, or burnt spoons.
- Overhearing people talking about drugs.

NOTE: It is important to distinguish between obnoxious or weird behavior and drug activity. Racial or ethnic background, economic level, or lifestyle choices do not mean the person is a drug dealer.
